We saw it ourselves! It was bigger than a man, all hunched over and covered in dunno... armor or a shell or something.

He's a monster hunter. Well, used to be. He was supposed to be ruthless, taking any job that paid enough and leaving piles of bodies in his wake.

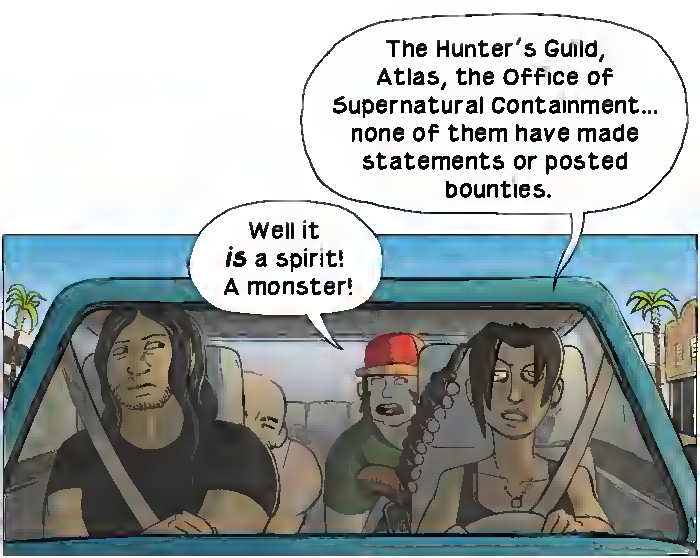
I can give you a lift to a doctor.

...And you figured you'd just... threaten a guy like that into helping you out?

...

Right. So where can I find Shimizu?



The Hunter's Guild, Atlas, the Office of Supernatural Containment... none of them have made statements or posted bounties.
Well it is a spirit! A monster!

...And after the tourists and those high school kids went missing, it moved on to the sheriff and his deputies?
Yeah, that's right.

You're sure it's a spirit though? I mean, sounds like it could be a human.

Who is he?
David Shimizu.

Where'd you see it? What was it doing?

On the way,
how about you tell me
about these spirit troubles...

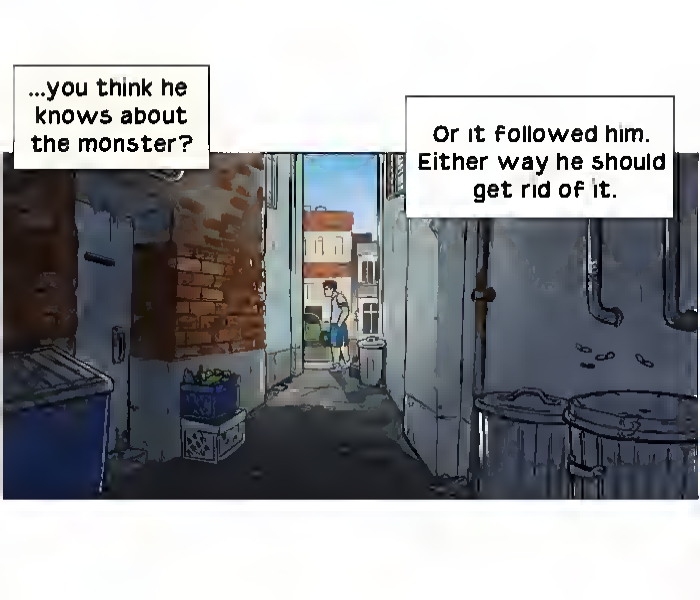
THE SWORD INTERVAL

BY BEN FLEUTER

Well, it was late at night just... skulking near a bar called the Drybones, staring out from the alley.
We tried to tell someone but they all said we'd been drinking, and didn't believe us.
Had you?



...you think he knows about the monster?
Or it followed him. Either way he should get rid of it.

D-do you need me to call 911?
I'm not throwing all my money away on an ambulance ride.

Yeah, but we weren't drunk! And all three of us saw it!
Alright, alright.
So that guy at the diner...

[redacted]

Shit, man. My arm...

Hey.
